

UBC Continuing Studies

The Forgotten Gifts of Persia

Learn about the forgotten contributions of Persia to world civilization in the realm of technology and architecture. Topics include the world's first movies, the artificial eye, the battery, aqueducts, refrigeration and air-conditioning systems, windmills, pontoon bridges and the world's first hospital and medical university, as well as examples of the influence of Persian architecture in China, India, Rome, Western Europe, and throughout the Middle East.

KAVEH FARROKH is a leading authority on the history of Persia. His most recent book is Iran at War: 1500-1988.
